From the Principal's desk

Jhargram Raj College (Girls' Wing) was established in 2014 in the forested town of Jhargram, located in erstwhile West Midnapore, now declared an independent district. While a number of other colleges were inaugurated in the same year by Smt. Mamata Banerjee, the honorable CM of West Bengal as part of a massive educational upliftment drive of Junglemahal, Jhargram Raj College (Girls' Wing) is the only college which serves to cater to the educational needs of women. This unique identity of the college as a safe haven for women who want to pursue higher education, who wish to carve a niche for themselves, who are willing to be masters of their own fate is of special importance in a marginalized area whose socio-economic conditions have not been conducive to the needs and voices of women. Women have been victims of double deprivation and systemic exploitation in this underprivileged geo-political location and it is through the light of education that Jhargram Raj College (Girls' Wing) seeks to lead the young women of the area to greater heights and to a better realisation of their own potential. By offering facilities ranging from libraries to sports equipment, from labs to common rooms, from workshops to cultural activities, we are trying to develop our infrastructure in such a way that every student finds her own special place and develops herself accordingly, under the able guidance of our professors. Our government has walked with us every step of the way in ensuring the health and safety of our students as well. We, here at Jhargram Raj College (Girls' Wing), believe in a holistic development of our girls and treat them as nothing less than beautiful buds waiting to blossom into educated, mature, kind and broad-minded citizens who will strive for better lives not just for themselves but will re-envision and renovate their communal and social structures as well in due course of time.

History

Jhargram Raj College (Girls' Wing) started its journey in 2014 in the sideyard of Jhargram Raj College. The institution started getting recognized and lauded for some of the infrastructural facilities that were being developed and the various activities that were being conducted in the premises. An auditorium with a seating capacity of over 150, housing state-of-the-art screening facilities and CCTV surveillance got Jhargram Raj College (Girls' Wing) on the map. Prestigious establishments like the Archaeological Survey of India, along with others, preferred and chose this particular venue to host their regional programmes with the aid of the faculty members of the college. This gave greater exposure to the students from remote margins of the Junglemahal area enabling them to be a part of such activities and interactions. In the following years, the college attained incremental independence and, finally, is a completely self-sufficient institution on its own credit with the resources to offer complete support to its staff and students at present. With time, an increasing number of seminars, talks, workshops, film screenings, legal interactive sessions were organized for the students. The infrastructure has kept on getting more advanced adding lifts, labs, games rooms along with a steady improvement of the academic quotient and cultural activities of the college. More Honours departments were added to both the Science and the Arts faculties along with an overhaul of the intake capacity of the students. More facilities like a cycle stand, rainwater harvesting systems, women's hostels are underway. Afforestation programmes are religiously carried out every few months or as and when required. As part of its community care projects, the college has also adopted a remote lodha-sabar village and taken its tiny tots under the wing of the faculty members who have vowed to take care of their educational needs. Students are encouraged to actively participate in all of the above so that they can inculcate the spirit of social consciousness, environmental awareness along with a holistic evolution of their personalities. The institution has tried to uplift and will continue to strive to care for its ecological and social ecosystem as long as it exists and develop sustainably for a better and brighter future.

Mission and Vision

We, as citizens of this country, are all concerned about development and to be more specific human development. Each one of us wants all kinds of opportunities and freedoms to live a kind of life that we value. The process of development should at least create an environment for us to develop our full potential and to have a reasonable chance of leading productive and creative lives.

This college by providing the girls of the area with an opportunity of education opens the door to this possibility. The vision is to boost their capabilities so that they can take control of their own lives. This is essential to enable them to make proper use of the opportunities they get. The college with all its infrastructure along with scholarships provided by the government creates the opportunity while the faculty members hailing from myriad backgrounds tend to take extra care in encouraging the students to make good use of these to become empowered individuals.

We all know that women have achieved their right to education after a long struggle and our mission is to preserve and develop the fruits of that struggle. We also know that women empowerment, both psychological and financial, is the only way to prevent a large number of crimes against women. Our mission therefore is not just to impart formal education but also to raise consciousness among the girls about their position in society and how to change it for the better. Societal change is incremental. Our vision, therefore since the inception, has been to create a new generation of women in the area who are progressive, confident, empowered, who believe in gender equality and know how to claim their rights amidst adversities.

Profile of the College

Location: Jhargram Raj College (Girls' Wing) is situated in the town of Jhargram, the District Head Quarters of Jhargram. It is about 2 Km from Jhargram Rail Station. State and private buses are also available from the nearby towns like Kharagpur and Midnapore. It is about 16 Km by road from Kolkata Mumbai national highway (NH6).

Departments: The college has 10 undergraduate departments, where seven Honours subjects and three General subjects are taught. All courses follow the semester system under CBCS affiliated to the Vidyasagar University.

Infrastructure: Since its inception in 2014, this college has come a long way in infrastructure development. The four storey building has a large number of well-lit and spacious classrooms with white boards. We have an auditorium with all technologically smart set up like projectors, sound system etc. We also have smart class infrastructure. There is a provision of common room for girls. We have water purifiers with coolers to ensure drinking water supply for the students and sanitary napkin dispenser machine in the female washroom as well. We have installed 3 sanitizer dispensers as it is the need of the hour. Elevator has also been installed recently. For bio-science courses, the college has laboratory for conducting practical classes. For additional security of girls, the college has CCTV cameras at different locations in all the floors with a live feed to the Principal's office. The college also houses a study centre of the Netaji Subhas Open University for those who pursue courses in the distance education format.

Library: The college library started in the year 2014. There is one central library. It is well stocked with approximately 15,000 books. The library is spread across two floors. Apart from circulation of books, the library also provides reading space for students and teachers. It contains preparatory books related to competitive exams. The teachers of this college play active part in providing books to cater to the student's needs.

Scholarship/ Free studentship: As per existing government rules, scholarships from the Government of West Bengal include:

- Swami Vivekananda Merit cum Means Scholarship
- OASIS
- Kanyashree
- Aikyashree
- Nabanna Scholarship

Scholarship from the Government of India : National Scholarship

National Service Scheme:

*Aponare loye bibroto rohite
ashe nai keho oboni pore shokoler tore shokole amra protyeke amra porer tore*

-Kamini Roy

This quotation stands true for the National Service Scheme (NSS) as well which is a Central Sector Scheme of the Government of India.

Started as part of Mahatma Gandhi's birth centenary celebrations in 1969, this scheme aimed at creating awareness among the youth of the nation of the following:

- Rich cultural diversity of India
- History of our diversified culture
- National pride through knowledge about India
- To integrate the nation through social service

With the establishment of Jhargram Raj College (Girls' Wing), the NSS unit was also created to engage the students in social service. The Principal, the teaching and non-teaching faculty members as well as the students have come together on various occasions to ensure the college makes a positive contribution to society. The activities of the NSS unit are not limited to the confines of the college. It plays an integral role in the locality by lending a helping hand to people beyond the college by enhancing their holistic development. The NSS unit also tries to increase awareness about cleanliness, personal hygiene as well as the importance of a pollution free environment. It has also adopted a backward village, Satyaban Pally, located near the college and provides the children there with free stationery and clothes as well as household items like bleaching powder, detergent, disinfectants and phenyl to promote sanitation. The unit has also taken up the task of organizing campaigns to spread awareness regarding personal hygiene. It has also started a school for the children of a Lodha-Shabar village near Pukuria called 'Chuni Kotal Pathshala' which has taken around 25 children under its wings.

Sports and Games:

“You will be nearer to Heaven through football than through the study of Gita”.

-Vivekananda

Sports not only increase one's physical fitness. It also helps in the holistic growth of one's character by inculcating the values of ambition, discipline, social responsibility and teamwork thereby promoting the development of a healthy mind and body. Hence, it is imperative that equal importance be given to both education as well as physical fitness.

Jhargram Raj College (Girls' Wing) provides the students with various opportunities in terms of both indoor and outdoor games.

Indoor Games

- Table Tennis
- Chess
- Ludo
- Chinese Checkers
- Carrom

Outdoor Games

- Badminton
- Volleyball
- Flying Disc

Apart from these, the College also provides the students with the opportunity to exercise in a gymnasium equipped with modern amenities. We also have a spacious campus which encourages the students to participate in outdoor games. Our students have made us proud by participating in district-level inter-college sports events and winning in such competitions.

The college organizes an Annual Sports event every winter which gives the students the ability to showcase their talent at games which is a huge opportunity for the youth of a remote and backward area like Junglemahal. These sports activities encourage the students to take both success and failure in their stride which instils the sportsmanship spirit in them. As Ken Doherty said,

“The five S’s of sports training are: stamina, speed, strength, skill, and spirit; but the greatest of these is spirit.”

Cultural Activities:

Education is not just a degree that a student receives after completing a course; it implies the all-round development of a child. Following the seminal words of Asia’s first Nobel Laureate and global “cultural icon”, Kabiguru Rabindranath Tagore—“The highest education is that which does not merely give us information but makes our life in harmony with all existence.”

Education institutions help shape the overall personality of a student. Participation in cultural activities instills both life skills as well as social skills within a student. It gives them the chance to develop interaction skills with other batchmates and boosts their confidence levels. These activities fosters team spirit, builds a sense of responsibility, makes them capable enough to face critical challenges and find solutions to even real-life problems.

With active participation of teachers, students and non-teaching staff alike, a few such cultural activities, which are observed within the campus of Jhargram Raj College (Girls' Wing), are as follows—

- Commemoration of Swami Vivekananda’s Birth Anniversary (12th January)
- Celebration of Republic Day (26th January)
- Celebration of Matri Bhasha Divas (21st February)
- Celebration of Saraswati Puja
- Observing Science Day (28th February)
- Observing of Women’s Day (8th March)
- Commemoration of Rabindra Jayanti
- Celebration of Independence Day (15th August)
- Celebration of Teachers’ Day (5th September)
- Celebration of Vidyasagar Jayanti (26th September)

- Commemoration of Gandhi Jayanti (2nd October)
- Celebration of Prak-Sharadiya, which is combined with Freshers' Welcome or Nobeen Boron.

Orientation Programme

The college conducts an orientation programme for their students before the commencement of classes so that they are well-acquainted with the rules and regulations of the CBCS curriculum and examination pattern. The teachers of various departments interact with the students and enlighten them on the vision and mission of each discipline and department. They are also introduced to the various social and cultural activities of the college which falls under the co-curricular framework of the education system. This serves the purpose of establishing a certain bond between the teaching fraternity and the newcomers and also serves to provide them with a certain perspective regarding their place in and expectations from the institution and vice versa.

Departmental Overview

Department of Bengali:

Literature is a reflection of human life with its multiple manifestations and flows in different directions. The purpose of literature is know this diverse, multidimensional life in depth. Keeping this in mind, the Department of Bengali, since its inception in 2014, has tried to inculcate an overall idea about the culture of the nation among the students by helping them delve deeper into the world of literature. Focus is placed not just on the of past Bengali literary culture but also an understanding of literary transitions keeping the current socio-economic context in mind to inculcate in the students a different dimension of how literature takes a turn, how it sounds new melodies thus enabling the students to take a definite view of the future and the right approach in their stride towards the future.

With regard to pedagogy as well, the Department of Bengali has adopted various modern techniques to keep pace with the time. The Department has organized seminars and various other programmes and students have been encouraged to present their own ideas, evaluations, recite poems and read out stories to help students develop their mind, feelings and intellects. The Department does not just focus on formal syllabus coverage but also tries to enrich cultural consciousness by organizing different cultural programmes. Apart from the limited knowledge of the syllabus, there are many diverse books of literature kept in the library for the multidimensional study of Eastern and Western literature. The students of the Department have been quite receptive of whatever the department has had to offer since its inception. The Department has consistently performed well in University examinations and are pursuing higher studies in several noted Universities in West Bengal. Few students have established themselves in the professional front as well and have created a dignified identity for themselves in the society.

Above all, the Department has tried to move from a traditional formal student-teacher relationship to a more informal 'friend-philosopher-guide' equation. The approach has not been a solely disciplinarian one but has been a more humane relationship enabling creativity to blossom keeping the spirit of literature and life intact.

Department of English:

The department of English was established in 2014 and offers BA degree in Honours and General courses following the CBCS curriculum. We are dedicated to the pedagogical process not just through traditional modes of classroom teaching but believe in a blended mode of learning. The department of English is one of the first departments to have incorporated smart class teaching, class debates and discussions, student presentations and have tried to move beyond the conventional exam pattern to more creative and modern techniques of assessment and evaluation. The department keeps organizing various talks, webinars and special classes by inviting eminent resource personalities from all walks of life.

We do not encourage students to join this course to attain a better grasp of the English language as that is not what the study of Literature is about. Our students are pursuing higher education in various Universities or working as teachers, nurses, artists, entrepreneurs and in other capacities in both public and private sector organizations.

Department of History:

“The more you know about the past, the better you are prepared for the future”. -
Theodore Roosevelt

It is one of the founding departments of Jhargram Raj College (Girls' Wing) which was established in the year 2014. The department is decked with three faculty members and with a good strength of students. It focuses upon the good academic performance and gives utmost importance to active learning in the form of discussions, presentations, seminars and talks by eminent dignitaries and academicians.

The Academic curriculum of the department of history is based on the Choice Based Credit System under Vidyasagar University. The departmental functions include lectures and the students' performances are monitored by individual assignment and internal assessments evaluations which are made on the basis of regular classes and university examinations. The department of history will always strive for the betterment of students and for the all-round development which will be helpful in preparing students for their careers and bright future.

Department of Philosophy:

“Verify the meaning of words and you will save the mankind from half of their delusions”

- Rene Descartes

This is exactly the aim of this department. In the seven years of its existence this department has a great pride in growing its academic performance. It has contributed a lot in the field of women’s education. True to the spirit of Descartes, the teachers of this department guide the students towards developing their talent in various fields by involving them in debates, seminars and discussions in class. Students are encouraged to participate in activities other than their curriculum like NSS, several cultural activities and sports among other things. Our alumni are pursuing higher studies from eminent Universities.

Department of Political Science

“Man is by nature a political animal.”

- Aristotle, Politics

Political Science as an academic discipline has evolved over centuries. Hence, the Department of Political Science has rightly been introduced in our college, since 2014. As students of Political Science, they learn the journey of this discipline through a large number of sub-disciplines like Political Sociology, Political Economy, Public Administration, International Relations, Comparative Politics to name a few. Studying Political Science opens up the analytical capabilities to understand all the events happening around. The study of this discipline helps to create awareness and increase the political education of the people in the society. Students completing Under-Graduation can opt for civil services, media, research, education, law, NGOs and several other fields as career opportunities.

Department of Sanskrit

The Department of Sanskrit was established in 2014 as a part of the B.A general course. In 2016, Sanskrit was included into the Honours curriculum. The teachers in this department use modern tools and technologies to make the students understand the subject. Special attention is paid to make the students fit for the present day society. The course contents include such topics that make the students understand literature, linguistics, philosophy, poetics, sanskrit shastras to name a few. The study of Sanskrit allows students to dive into the golden era of Indian classics, opening up their vision not just into Literature but also ancient Indian philosophy. Offering a first-hand glimpse into the culture and society of the Classical Age, the study of Sanskrit has undergone a revival in current times and more and more scholars and visionaries are entering the field and widening the scope of the discipline and encouraging more research and analysis.

Department of Sociology

The Department of Sociology was established in August, 2014. It offers a B.A degree in Sociology (Honours and General). The study of Sociology offers to help the students to understand human society and scientific study of the social relationships by which a social system works.

The first Honours batch of the Department of Sociology passed out in 2019. Besides academics, students collectively participate in a range of extra-curricular activities. The Department has conducted several International, National and State level lectures, workshops and webinars since its establishment.

Sociology as an academic discipline has a range of career options such as employment in academic and research institutes, public health and welfare departments, policy analyst, social workers, public relations workers, journalist, counsellors, Human Resource (HR) specialists, market research analyst and so on.

B.Sc (General)

B.Sc. Bio General Department, in the beautiful campus of this college encompasses various departments like Botany, Zoology and Physiology. At present a three year degree course, B.Sc. Bio. (Gen.) under CBCS are conducted under the affiliation of Vidyasagar University.

Department of Zoology

The department of Zoology has passed through a progressive journey since its inception. This course offers an opportunity for a comprehensive study of animal biodiversity, animal behaviour, taxonomy, ecology, biochemistry, etc through classroom lectures, practicals, interactive sessions, seminars and workshops. To make the subject more interesting and purposeful, demonstrative methods are used. The department has a well-equipped laboratory and necessary infrastructure to meet the academic demands of the students.

Department of Physiology

“The physiology of today is the medicine of tomorrow.” Ernest H. Starling, Physiologist (1926).

The Department of Physiology has been integral to the college since the beginning. It continuously caters to the academic and intellectual aspirations of the students inclined to this discipline.

Human physiology is the science of the mechanical, physical, and biochemical function of humans, and serves as the foundation of modern medicine. The study of human physiology integrates knowledge across many levels, including biochemistry, cell physiology, molecular biology, genetics, organ systems, and the body as a whole. It's a subject that underpins medical science and as part of this degree, you will consider aspects of pathophysiology, exploring what happens when things go wrong and some of the strategies that are used to treat dysfunction.

This department is well equipped with a state-of-the-art laboratory where the students can perform the practical experiments included in their course curriculum. The students are allowed to access a good number of Physiology and related books of both National and International publications. This department also organizes science seminars, quizzes competitions, celebrates the occasion like Science Day etc. In such a short span of its existence the department under the able guidance of the professors has successfully organized a blood group detection camp which not only helped the students to know their blood groups but also helped them to have hands-on-experience in detecting blood groups.

Department of Botany

This department is decked with a proper infrastructure in the form of a hi-tech laboratory and an updated library. The students are given special attention to make them understand each and every topic in detail. Studying Botany can help one excel in the basic disciplines such as, Anatomy, Biochemistry, Biophysics, Bryology, Cytology, Ecology, Genetics, Lichenology, Molecular Biology, Microbiology, Morphology, Mycology, Paleobotany, Pteridology, Phycology, Physiology, Systematics, Systems Ecology and Taxonomy. Botany graduates can excel in disciplines related to Applied Plant Sciences such as, Phytotechnologies, Agricultural Sciences, Agronomy, Biodiversity Conservation, Biotechnology, Breeding, Economic Botany, Environmental Sciences, Ethnobotany, Food Science and Technology, Forestry, Horticulture, Marine Botany, Natural Resource Management, Plant Pathology, Plant Entomology and Sustainable Ecosystem Services.
